

Dr. Anthony J. Matias, Founder & Managing Director of Matias Interactive Learning

Dr. Matias has conducted management training for over 20 years.

In addition to 25 years of providing expert consultation regarding financial, management, accounting, information systems, and tax issues, Anthony J. Matias has developed and led courses...

- For Fortune 500 companies, top-tier universities, and the US government.
- Focused on a number of financial and management topics, including budgeting, financial management, advanced financial analysis, management development, information systems, and finance and accounting for non-financial managers.
- Tailored for organizational and project managers at a variety of skill levels – ranging from introductory to advanced knowledge and applications.

Experience

Like many marketing executives with a rich career of accomplishment, he is best known by his achievements. Among the most noteworthy, they include training and consultation work with the following organizations:

- American Management Association - Course leader and course developer for finance, accounting, budgeting, financial analysis and forecasting.
- Institute of Management Accountants - Developed and presented courses in finance and process control
- General Electric Company - Conducted seminars in Financial Statement Analysis at GE Capital. Participants included financial analysts and credit managers of GE Capital.
- Johnson & Johnson - Conducted seminars in management accounting. The workshop was presented to groups of financial and management accounting staff members preparing to take the CMA qualification exams.
- The World Bank - Conducted seminars in financial planning and budgeting for project managers of the World Bank in support of their efforts to monitor and control project activities
- Purdue University Research - Seminars were presented project managers to support their efforts in planning, budgeting and financial analysis.
- Capella University - Developed and presented online courses in utilizing the tools of project management, including applications of MS Project.

- Zurich Insurance - Conducted seminars in advanced financial analysis. The workshops were presented to risk and product managers in support of their efforts to evaluate existing prospective customers.
- Raytheon Company - Conducted seminars in financial analysis in support of Six Sigma implementations in the production environment for missile systems. The program was presented to project managers.
- Bryant University (Smithfield, RI) - Conducted seminars in finance and accounting in support of programs at the Center for Management Development.
- Bentley College (Boston, MA) - Conducted a variety of management development programs at the Center for Continuing Professional Education.
- US Government (General Services Administration) - Conducted seminars in real estate budgeting and financial management. The program was presented to property managers and budget analysts.
- US Government (Department of Justice) - Conducted programs in finance and accounting for non-financial managers.

Dr. Matias has also done extensive consulting work with organizations in the banking, manufacturing, EDP, service industries, communications and insurance industries. His experience in the financial industry includes training and consulting for commercial banks, savings institutions, credit union, investment banking and insurance.

He has held manager and partner level positions at several regional accounting firms, and was a Division Controller for McKesson & Robbins. Academic positions included that of Assistant Professor at Suffolk University (Boston, Mass), Merrimack College (Andover, Mass), Bentley College (Waltham, Mass), and professor of management at Palm Beach Atlantic University.

Published Works

Dr. Matias is author of four books: Dimensions in Accounting (co-author), D.H Mark Publishing; Principles of Accounting and Finance, published by Education for Management; Real Estate Investment Analysis, Vector Publishing Co.; and Intermediate Finance and Accounting, published by AMACOM. He has also authored many articles dealing with finance, economics and taxation.

Education

Dr. Matias' formal education includes Doctorate in Management and Accounting from Nova Southeastern University, and an M.B.A. from Boston College. He holds memberships in the American Institute of CPAs and the Academy of International Business.